Junior League of Chicago 2014-2015 Overview

Community 124,280 Hours

The Junior League of Chicago donates over 124,280 volunteer hours to community agencies and programs that support child welfare and education. In addition, the JLC raises thousands of dollars each year to fund our 11 community projects. For more than a century, the JLC has diligently worked to empower at-risk families—especially women and girls—through hands-on mentoring, advocacy and education.

Education and Training 27,500 Hours

Providing trained volunteers to the community is central to the JLC mission. Our members receive training and education as new members, called Associates, and as an Active member through our continuing education program, Junior League of Chicago University (JLCU). The training continues throughout a member's career, with courses on topics such as "Goal Setting", "Child Development" and "HPV Awareness and Education."

Fundraising and Development 7,289 Hours

Junior League of Chicago members raise money through Annual Fund, special events, corporate sponsorship, cookbook sales, and generous matching gifts. Junior League of Chicago raises money to fund our community projects and training programs. This year's fundraising events include: Summer Soiree, Halloween Party, Annual Gala, Perfect Pairing, and Jungle Jam.

Advocacy 2,200 Hours

The Junior League of Chicago's Advocacy Council identifies and researches policy issues important to the JLC, advocating on its behalf. It builds coalitions with like-minded organizations, and promotes awareness and dialogue among JLC membership and the community. The Advocacy Council educates League Members, community organizations, and policy-makers on issues facing JLC members and the communities we serve. JLC Members worked diligently advocating on behalf of women, children, and the community at large. Members worked to support the following important initiatives.

- Childhood Obesity
- Early Childhood Education
- Human Trafficking

"To me, the greatest thrill about it all lay in two things. The first is learning about one's city. The second and the best is the feeling of becoming a part of one's city- through playing a constructive role with actually making your effort count in your city's growth."

*-Lucy McCormick Blair Linn
Founder of Junior League of Chicago*

Over 900 Actives and Provisional Members

Over 400 Sustainer Members

Over 161,269 Volunteer Hours which equal to $3,883,357.52 in investments

*Total hours are not exact but the product of the average number of attendees multiplied by the average number of hours worked.

JLC in the Community

Associate Community Experience (ACE)

Associate Community Experience is for our new members of Junior League of Chicago. ACE organizes service projects throughout the year targeted at helping women and children in the community. Some service projects include preparing food at local shelters, providing healthy snacks for foster kids, creating blankets for children at local hospitals, and teaching elementary students about gardening.

Kids in the Kitchen

Kids in the Kitchen promotes child health and wellness by empowering children and youth to make healthy lifestyle choices, therefore preventing obesity and its associated health risks. This is an AJLI project. Children are engaged in the preparation of healthy meals as a means to educate them and their parents regarding nutrition and healthy lifestyle choices. Members provide lessons and demonstrations related to preparation of healthy meals and snacks.

Project CON:CERN

Project CON:CERN is the JLC initiative to provide professional resources and consultation to four local nonprofit organizations per League year. JLC members provide consulting services and strategic advice to help them achieve their mission and vision. Project CON:CERN focuses on improving board development, marketing, strategy, and volunteer management.

Connecting Kids to the Arts

Connecting Kids to the Arts works closely with five community partners to give children the opportunity to express themselves creatively, with a goal of raising their self-esteem and having fun during what may be a stressful time. At the same time, their parents are given time to either receive services themselves or simply take a much-needed break. Current partners include Evanston YWCA, Gilda's Club, Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, Ronald McDonald House, and JLC's own community project, Girls All Stars.

Done in A Day

Done in a Day organizes service projects throughout the year targeted towards women and children in the community in just one day. The committee has relationships with dozens of partners throughout the city and creates opportunities for the JLC to work with other organizations and explore future partnerships. Last year the committee organized 63 events and projects ranged from painting children's faces at Halloween events to passing out water during the Chicago Marathon. The committee's wide offering of projects, times and locations make the Junior League's ongoing service in the community possible.

Mad Hatters

Mad Hatters promotes literacy among children and literacy awareness to parents through an interactive story time for children and their parents. Mad Hatters demonstrates that reading can be fun for all. Performances include books, poems, and songs while wearing crazy hats to encourage each child in the audience to expand their minds through reading, as well as familiarizing families with their local library, while stressing the fun and importance of reading! Committee members visit libraries, schools and other community groups to perform for children ages 3 to 9 years.

Journey to Healthy Living

Through Journey to Healthy Living, JLC members provide women living in the near west side of Chicago with access to free fitness classes, nutrition classes, and other wellness information. This area of Chicago has been designated a "food desert" because of the lack of access to healthy food. Consistent monthly programming focused on health and wellness provided by this committee helps to fill the gap.

Teen Exodus

The Teen Exodus program, serves at-risk teenage girls, ages 12 to 17, on the Near North Side, Washington Park, and Uptown neighborhoods of Chicago. The goal of the program is to goal of providing these young women with activities that foster both self-esteem and leadership growth. Each event exposes the teens to new experiences and activities while addressing prevalent issues within the teens' communities. Topics addressed include: nutrition, college and career aspirations, and teen pregnancy prevention.

The Women's Treatment Center (TWTC)

The Women's Treatment Center (TWTC) is a residential rehab program for women who are overcoming addiction. TWTC is the only substance abuse treatment center in the state focused solely on enabling women to transition from addiction to recovery, with the ultimate goal of rebuilding families who will lead productive lives. JLC volunteers visit TWTC throughout the course of the year to promote healthy lifestyles and foster the parent-child connection for the women and children in a number of ways: by programming events aimed at developing personal, relationship, and business skills, by offering childcare during the volunteer-developed workshops, and by coordinating family-friendly outings that help the women have healthy fun with their young children. Whether it's organizing a "Dress for Success" seminar, helping rehearse job interview questions, offering relationship advice from experts, or leading a funky dance exercise class, our members aim to help the women develop the skills they need to succeed and stay healthy as they finish treatment.

Girls' All Star Club (GALS)

In the GALS program, JLC members help girls, grades 3 through 8, develop an interest in learning by improving their skills through homework help, relationship building and social interaction with JLC members in various low income Chicago neighborhoods. As we continue to look for ways to engage in the community we have expanded our outreach from one school, Funston Elementary in Logan Square to include a second location at Second Presbyterian Church in the South Loop. Originally coined as a tutoring program, GALS is so much more. GALS strives to provide a supportive, creative, and open atmosphere where children can reflect upon and discuss achievements, challenges, and their aspirations for the future. The most rewarding aspect of serving on GALS is building relationships.

Financial Statement

For the fiscal year ending May 31, 2015, the audited financial statements show an overall decrease in net assets. This is primarily due to a $42,862 prior period adjustment to write-off the remaining cookbook inventory, as recommended by the external Auditors and approved by the 2015-2016 Board.

The 2014-2015 year saw a ten percent increase in special events revenue and contributions, particularly the Sustainer Window project, all of which are a testament to our collective efforts to fundraise for and philanthropically support the mission of the Junior League of Chicago. Such efforts made it possible to increase spending on our community projects and education and training programs to $218,145.00 and to proceed with the window repair project.

We close the 2014-2015 fiscal year with an increase in the fair value of Investments, based on a valuation by our external auditors, a Board designated fund to support identifying and cultivating future community partnerships and, overall, holding $1.83 million in Net Assets. We are so grateful for everyone's continued support of our organization. In doing so, together, we make it possible to train leaders, serve the community and change lives.

Fran Pukala
2014-2015 Treasurer

"I volunteer with Mad Hatters because literacy is so vitally important. Anything I can do to help more people learn to love books and reading as much as I do is something I can be proud of."

*-Nikki Kidd
Mad Hatter Committee Member*

I Joined Junior League Of Chicago Because...

I joined Junior League of Chicago because I wanted to help the community. I have had the pleasure of volunteering with Teen Exodus. When I joined the JLC in 2009, I was 25, fresh out of law school and newly married. I was assigned to the Teen Exodus project, and went to my first event starry-eyed and ready to "help," sure that I was going to be a great influence in some girl's life. Fast forward six years, and as it turns out, I've been influenced more by these teenage girls than I could have ever imagined. I have had the great pleasure of volunteering with Teen Exodus each year throughout my tenure with the JLC, and it's given me the opportunity to watch class after class of young girls blossom into accomplished, intelligent and independent young women who go off to college and will undoubtedly accomplish great things. Many of the girls begin the program in seventh or eighth grade, and remain in it until they finish high school. These young ladies hail from the Near North, Uptown and Washington Park neighborhoods of the city, and many come from families who have struggled in one way or another. They are selected for the program based on their outstanding academic and personal achievements. The JLC volunteers are meant to mentor these young women and help them through their teenage years, but in reality, the volunteers benefit equally as much from the experience. It is awe inspiring to watch these girls gracefully overcome the challenges that come into their paths and confidently pursue their dreams. These girls know what colleges they want to attend and what careers they aim to have, and they have pursued these goals despite obstacles that could derail any typical person. I've personally drawn on the strength exhibited by the teens in facing difficult situations in my own life, and have tried to face my challenges with the same courage and determination that I've seen the teens exhibit throughout the years.

I'm a different person than when I first started volunteering with the Teen Exodus program. I'm 32, a mother of a toddler and no longer a newbie attorney. However, there are still stars in my eyes when I attend the first Teen Exodus event of the year, only now, it's in excited anticipation of how much these young ladies will enrich my life and just how much I will learn from them.

*-Alessandra Swanson
Teen Exodus Committee Member*

"I volunteer because I feel it is our responsibility to give back to the communities that we live and work in and to help the next generation of girls and boys. The heart of Chicago and its communities is built on the generosity and strength of its people."
